County News. An entertaining concert was given at the Presbyterian Church at Ballston, in the counts, on Friday night last, to a very ap preciative audience, under the direction of the Literary Club of the county, as follows: Chorus, "Auld Lang Syne," by the club; recitation, "Brier Rose," by Miss Ridgely, of Washington, who upon being recalled reched Mrs. Maioney's Version of the Chinese Question, to the great delight of her hear-ers; tostrumental music by Miss Anna Doctivite was artistically rendered and well received; recitation, "The Lost Heir," by Mass Bessie Schutt, was rendered in costume and was loudly applauded; solo, "Rose Ba-h," by Mes Anna Munson, who upon receiving an enthusias is encore, sang in her barst pathetic and beautiful style, "Love's O'd Sweet Song," with great effect. Mrs. Steam Flooring & Planing Mill Win. A. Young, sang in her usual good style, "The Song That Reached My Heart," and was encored, but refused to respond, simply bowing her acknowledgment. A handsome silver watch, was here prz, awarded to Mes er Arthur L. Niles, for hav-ing sold the greatest number of tickes to the concert, by Mr. James E. Clements, president of the club. The beautiful solo, "Marguerite" was well rendered by Miss Pika of Washington, after which the Pike, of Weshington, after which the exercises were concluded with "Home, Sweet Home," in chorus by the club. A large and handsome Bradbury plane was used on the occasion and the concert was financially, and otherwise, a great success. The ushers and managers, Messrs. Horace Gilbert. Thomas De Lashmutt, Jas. E. Clements and Dr. Charles Muasin, were untiring in their efforts to make the evening In 1885 the United States Congress passed a law prohibiting fishing in the waters of the Potomac within the lines of the District of Columbia for the period of five years. That term has expired and a new bill is now pending to continue said law for ten years longer. The people of Alexandria county, owning a river front opposite the District of Columbia, are objecting to the remarked the front of said law because it prohib its them from the right of fishing opposite their shore, and have employed Commonwealth's Attorney Clements, of the county, to present their object one to the Senate and House District Committees of Congress.

The Largest in the World

Gustave Lindenthal, the eminent engineer and bridge builder of Pitteburg, Pa., has completed plans for a suspension bridge across the Hudson river between Hoboken and Fourteenth street, New York. The plans of the bridge provide for a structure that shall have not less than six railroad tracks, and shall be constructed with a single span over the eatire river between the established pier lines in either State. This unbroken span will be 2 850 feet long, which will make it the largest bridge in the world. It is the length of the span which decides the size of the bridge, and not the length of he bridge itself from an engineering stand point. The bridge is to be built subject to he approval of the Secretary of War, and all persons, railroad and telegraph compa-cies, desiring to use it are to have equal rights Mr Lindenthal says the structure higher than the Brooklyn bridge. The of steel wire cables with bracings, These bracings will consist of the insertion into the cables of the stiffening trusses, which are usually independent of the cables. By the plan of insertion the cables act as the the plan of resertion the capies act as the cords, and form a curved stiffening frame or suspended stiffened arch rib. These cables will be fifty feet spart. The two supporting trueses are only strained to full capacity when six train meet. The mate rial of the bridge will be steel and steel wires. There will be four cables, each four feet in diameter. The towers will be of open lattice construction, to present as small wind surface as possible

In reference to cost Mr. Lindenthal says that the company has the practical business guarantee of the men who have money to invest. He roughly estimates the cost of the bridge itself at $16,000,000, the ap proaches at $7,000,000 and the right of way at from $11,000,000 to $13,000,000.
